

Second Grade

Life in the United States

Course Description: Second grade students will learn about government and civics, economics, geography, and history by studying more about who they are as Americans. The chief purpose of this course is to help students understand their identity as American citizens and how our nation operates. They will examine the geography of the United States and its national symbols and landmarks. Students will explore the structure and purpose of government at the local, state, and national levels, and the responsibilities, rights, and privileges of the citizens of the United States. Second grade students will acquire a common understanding of American history, its political principles, and its system of government in order to prepare them for responsible participation in our schools and civic life.

Culture

- 2.1 Compare the beliefs, customs, ceremonies, and traditions of the varied cultures represented in the United States by researching informational texts (North America, South America, Asia, Africa, Europe, and Australia).
- 2.2 Summarize stories from African folk tales and American Indian legends that reflect the cultural history of various regions in Tennessee and the United States to determine their central message, lesson, or culture.
- 2.3 Compare and contrast various cultures in the United States by engaging in collaborative conversations with partners.
- 2.4 Write an expository paragraph about another culture represented in the United States, introducing the topic, using facts and definitions to develop points, and providing a concluding statement.
- 2.5 Create audio recordings, adding drawings or other visual displays, to explain the ways in which we are all part of the same community, sharing principles, goals, and traditions despite varied ancestry.
- 2.6 Identify the main purpose of a text, including what the author wants to answer, explain, or describe in grade level texts that explore the early cultures of Tennessee.

Economics

- 2.7 Compare and contrast the most important points authors' make in texts examining different types of producers and consumers in the community and larger United States.
- 2.8 Ask and answer questions such as who, what, where, when, why, and how to demonstrate understanding of key details in texts that explain major products produced in the United States.

2.9 Describe how reasons support specific points the author makes in a text about major products and industries found in the United States.

2.10 Create a graphic organizer or concept map that describes how supply and demand influences production.

2.11 Participate in a shared research and writing project exploring how products are imported and exported to meet the needs of the people in the United States.

2.12 Write an opinion piece (supplying reasons that support the opinion, using linking words to connect opinion and reasons, and provide a concluding sentence) evaluating an advertisement to sell a good or service.

2.13 Describe the purpose of a budget and create a simple budget using money to buy goods and services.

Geography

2.14 Compare how maps and globes depict geographical information in different ways.

2.15 Construct a globe depicting the four hemispheres, seven continents, and five oceans using the equator and prime meridian.

2.16 Construct a map depicting the current boundaries of the United States, Canada, and Mexico and recognize they are part of the continent of North America.

2.17 Know and use legends, cardinal directions, and grids to determine locations on different types of maps.

2.18 Locate major cities, bodies of water, mountain ranges and rivers in the United States

- Cities: Boston, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Los Angeles, Memphis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, St. Louis, Washington D.C.
- Bodies of Water: Great Lakes, Gulf of Mexico, Atlantic and Pacific Oceans
- Rivers: Colorado, Cumberland, Mississippi, Tennessee
